Meet the New Owners of Hoppy's Bar in Kenton

In case you missed it, Hoppy's Bar in Kenton, Michigan, has new owners. If you attended the Log Jamboree in Ewen this past September, you may have seen one of the new owners, Jessica Nance, behind the bar at the Ewen Centennial Hall volunteering her time to serve up beverages during the day's festivities (thank you, Jessica!). Jessica, along with her husband Dan Nance, and her brother, John Dowd, Jr. are the new shared owners of Hoppy's. I recently had the opportunity to ask Jessica a few questions to learn more about her, Dan, and John. I admit that I had to resist the temptation to playfully start my questioning in the old-time, Finlander way, "Whoose girl are you?" Instead, this is what I politely asked Jessica, followed by her responses:

Where are you originally from? We're from Northwestern, Illinois, close to Iowa, in the middle of cornfield country.

How long have you lived here? We moved here full-time earlier this year. We've owned a home and 20 acres for a few years in Trout Creek.

Did you already have "roots" here? Our dad, (John and Jessica's) had brought us up here to snowmobile since we were children. We have a ton of family in the Balsam Lake, Wisconsin area. We decided last year, that we wanted to establish our own roots in area.

What made you decide to buy Hoppy's? The opportunity arose one evening after a few drinks. We had been looking for an opportunity to become a part of the U.P. community that we already loved and had visited for over 25 years. It just happened to be the opportunity that pushed us to take the leap. Dan was a steelworker for 15 years, I'm a nurse, and John is a Millwright. Our kids are 6 and 7. We decided it was the perfect time to move and purchase a well-known, successful business and give back to the community. We uprooted our lives and have no regrets. The community has been nothing but supportive, welcoming, and helpful.

What are you most excited about? Meeting more locals, building relationships within - and being a part of - the community.

Will the menu change? The menu still has all the favorites, plus we added soup, chili and a few extra burgers and appetizers. We've also added more liquor, beer, and beverage choices.

Will we see the same friendly faces behind the bar? Yes! Michele continues to be here fulltime as she always has been, and Jeannie works on her days off from her full time job at the plant.

So, there you have it. Be sure to stop by Hoppy's sometime soon to get a bite to eat (Sloppy Hoppy anyone?), have a drink, and welcome Jessica, Dan, John, and their children to our community.

P.S., Jane, we all wish you a very happy, fun, and much-deserved retirement!

ON NOV 19th VOTE for MABEL LABINE

TRIBAL COUNCIL

If I am elected to the LVD Tribal Council, I will work extra hard to represent our kids. I currently work at the Watersmeet school, where my full focus and attention is aimed at the future of our youth. I see so much potential and want to make sure they have every opportunity to succeed. I also want to be a voice for them and be the person they, or anybody else from within our community, can come and talk to about any concerns they may have. Thank you to everyone that supported me in the first election and I hope to have your support on Nov 19th!

- Miigwech!

Thank You, McMillan Township!

More than 2/3 of registered voters voted on Nov. 8. You were patient when you had to wait because the booths were full or a brand new poll worker was getting a brand new voter into the computer system. You were calm, cool, and collected during an election that has generated a lot of heat.

You're the best! Thanks!
